Thanks. When I first applied for this, the gentleman in your office suggested I use multiple points of diversion. I use a portable pump so do use both at various times, depending on where the water is needed. I have several stock tanks and move them as needed, so they are not stationary. Additionally, I own 15 acres that abuts this original piece and at times have a tank there also, as depicted by the blue circle outside of your boundary lines. The stars are an approximate area of diversion. I cant really specify using this image but it is close.

Good Afternoon Brad,

I hope this message finds you well. I have a question regarding the point of diversion indicated on the GIS aerial imagery map.

Could you clarify if there are two points of diversion as stated in the permit, or is it just a single point? I have attached a map can you confirm the Point of diversion are correct? Also where are the Stock water tanks ?

Thank you for your assistance. I appreciate your help!

Best regards,

Good afternoon,

Please find attached the following pictures as requested:

3052: stock tank
3066: point of diversion from river
3067: method of transfer via suction hose
3068: water hose, 1.5"
3069: stock tank
3070: one area of irrigation. These trees were planted along with bank restoration from a USDA grant.
3076: gas powered water pump.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Thank you

Yes no problem. So you want a picture of water tanks and then the pump and hose pulling from the river?

Good afternoon, Brad Batterton,

I am the water rights agent evaluating your Statement of Completion for Submitting Proof of Beneficial Use. To move on to the next stage of licensing for a water right, IDWR requires an exam to evaluate the extent of how beneficial use has been appropriated. Your permit qualifies for an in-office exam. This means that it doesn't necessitate a water right agent to be sent out to do a field exam and I can do the evaluation from my office. The aerial imagery tools that I have available to do my exam is not clear what is irrigated and what is not. Can you provide me with some additional information so that I can proceed with your application?

1. Photographs to verify stockwater use and the system.
2. Photographs of irrigation and the irrigation system.

Please let me know if you have any questions!
