Dana:

Per your request for information, I talked to water district secretary Whitney Voerman late yesterday & got the attached advisory committee list. The committee should help the watermaster figure out a local solution for a problem.

They should focus on priority dates and points of diversion from sources identified by water rights. They are not responsible for distribution problems associated with shared ditches &/or storage water.

A water user can request IDWR help if the watermaster & committee are not able to resolve things. IDWR response would depend on the situation – many problems are civil matters beyond IDWR jurisdiction.

Please let me know if you need more information.
