Dear Ms. Darrington;

Per your request, enclosed are 8 watermaster's daily record books. With regard to your question on the use of the Raft River channel to convey Cassia Creek water, I would let the SRBA deal with this question. Kelly Christensen will be reviewing the claims on Cassia Creek, and hopes to start doing field work in a couple of weeks. As part of his work, he can decide if any additional paperwork is needed (such as a water transfer or permit) to cover this situation. I might get involved if a complaint was filed against this conveyance situation, but otherwise Kelly would probably handle it.

Stevens Water Monitoring Systems, PO Box 40, Beaverton, OR, 97075, (800-452-5272) make staff gauges that measure head depths in weirs and flumes. The head measurement must then be converted to a flow rate based on the size and type of the weir or flume.

If I can be of further assistance, feel free to contact me.

Regards,

James E. Stanton
Sr. Water Resource Agent
