Bob and Cindy,

Attached is an excel file containing the names of ground water users who are participants in one of the two accepted mitigation plans (Mickelsen Well and Direct Payment plans), as well as the names of those users who are non-participants at this time. I think the list is pretty self-explanatory. It is color coded and includes an 'X' mark under one of three columns depending on which plan each user is participating in or whether the user has indicated to IDWR that they are not using ground water this year (note that in some cases it appears that users joined both mitigation plans).

The records or names that we need to focus on are the ones that are non-participants. These are color coded turquoise and have no 'X' mark in columns A, B or C. There are over 130 names in this non-participant category. This is a large number which gives us some concern about accuracy of the names and the workload involved in sorting all this out and contacting users. We have weeded out as many duplicates as we could or felt comfortable doing. I suspect you may be able to eliminate a number of names on your own based on your records and knowledge.

IDWR would like you to review the list of non-participants and identify any erroneous or duplicate names prior to contacting and individuals. We ask that you document these erroneous or duplicate records by making notes in the space provided under column D of the worksheet. Please advise us if the list of non-participant names is still lengthy after your initial review and processing. If there are a lot of remaining names, then we can assist you with contacting those individuals. We propose perhaps splitting the list up between our offices to reduce the burden and workload.

I will also follow-up with a direct phone call.

Regards, Tim
